Mother is Rescued, But So Badly Burned, She May Also Die.

OTHERS LIKELY TO RECOVER

Defective Flue is Blamed for Blaze at Mine Plant Which Takes Aerial Toll: Father of Family Risks Life to Save Children. But in Vain.

Three children were burned to death and four others were badly injured, one of them probably fatally, as the result of a fire which early this morning destroyed the home of Richard Giltner, a miner employed at the Outcrop No. 2 mine of the Rice Coal & Coke Company. A defective flue is believed to have caused the fire.

THE DEATHS.
LEONARD GILTNER, 6 years old.
MATTHEW GILTNER, 3 years old.
AUGUST GILTNER, 2 years old.
THE INJURED.
MRS. RICHARD GILTNER, burned about the face, arms and body, and may have incurred flames, is not expected to recover.

INFANT CHILD, badly burned, but will recover.
RICHARD GILTNER, father of the family, burned about head, neck and arms while rescuing others.

The fire occurred shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. Giltner was the first in the family to awake. He was on his way to work, and started a fire in the kitchen stove. He then went out into the garden. When he returned to the house he found the entire upper portion in flames. Rushing upstairs, he picked up his wife and baby, and aroused his own father, W. O. M. Davis, a road supervisor of Springhill township, who made his home with the Giltners.

Even then the upper part of the house was in flames, and in bringing the wife and baby downstairs, Giltner and the others were badly burned. The rescued ones were in their night-clothing. Giltner then turned his attention to the three children who were still sleeping in an upper room. He dashed into the house, but the flames drove him back. A second time, and still a third time, he tried to force his way, but there was no chance. The fire had spread to the lower floor and it was humanly impossible to enter the building. The entire lower floor was so quickly a fiery furnace that no human could survive it. No trace of the three little children has been found. It is supposed they were suffocated while asleep, or else, if they awakened, were unable to make their way to safety.

Mrs. Giltner and her baby were taken to the home of James Dougherty, while Giltner and his father were later taken to the home of Dr. B. Trimmer. Drs. McCracken and H. B. Giltner of Smithfield were early on the scene to see the burns of the survivors.

Neighbors who gathered quickly at the first alarm were unable to check the flames, and the house was totally consumed.

CORN AND COLT CONTESTS

Buttskin Tests Will be Decided by State Expert November 15.

Buttskin township's corn and colt contest, arranged by County Farm Agent F. H. Daugherty and farmers of that section, will be decided on November 15. Dr. H. H. Haver of State College will judge the colts. A number of agricultural experts will speak at the meeting. All farmers having 1916 colts are invited to enter them in the contest and to bring along 10 ear exhibits of their best corn.

The committee in charge of the contest consists of W. E. Miller, supervising principal of school; N. R. Lyons, J. C. Detweiler, J. B. Trimmer and J. M. Keller. The next meeting will be held October 23 at S. S. Ulery's store in Woodville.

Much interest has been manifested in the contest so far and many entries are expected.

WAR PICTURES COMING

They Will be Displayed in Behalf of the Relief Fund.

The only film showing action on the Italian battle front will be displayed at the Solvson Theatre on Monday under the auspices of the committee raising a fund for the relief of crippled Italian soldiers. The pictures have the approval of the Italian general staff. There are eight reels of them.

The committee is making good progress in this section. On Sunday, approximately $100 was collected at Foster, Juniata and Elm Grove, and $10 at Nellie and Vanderhill.

Thursday evening there will be a dance and lecture in McGuffey Hall for the benefit of the fund.

Unfilled Orders Decried.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on September 29 stood at $2,225,000 tons, a decrease of 157,775 tons compared with those of August 31, according to the monthly statement issued today.

WOMAN ASKS BIG SUM FROM B. & O.

Testimony is Taken in Suit of Mrs.
Victoria Leonard, Who Ask $25,000 for Husband's Death.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Victoria Leonard, of Champion, in court today before Judge E. H. Reppert began the prosecution of her action for $25,000 damages against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for the death of her husband, James Leonard, in Connellsville on last November 20. The jury selected in the case yesterday afternoon, and in charge of the court went to the Baltimore & Ohio yards in Connellsville to view the premises where Leonard's death occurred.

Claim is made by Mrs. Leonard that her husband purchased a ticket for Indian Creek at the Baltimore & Ohio station in Connellsville, it being his purpose to change trains there to go to Jones Mills, the nearest railroad point to his home at Champion. Leonard, it is said, boarded an eastbound passenger train at the Connellsville station, and by members of the train's crew was ejected from the Connellsville yards. A few seconds after he was ejected from the eastbound train, it is claimed, he was struck by a westbound train.

The trial of the trespass suit of Elmer G. Ward, of Uniontown, for $10,000 damages against the West Penn Railroad Company, which was begun yesterday before Judge J. G. Van Swearingen, continued today. Mr. Ward is seeking damages for personal injuries he is said to have received when a Pittsburgh car ran off the track near Leith on Christmas eve, 1911.

W. A. Edmiston, H. A. Cotton and T. J. Foley were appointed receivers for the Carson Construction Company, of Harrisville upon petition of George P. Cox, a stockholder of the company. The assets are given as $22,000, and the liabilities at $23,818.22 in the receivership bill. An order was made fixing the date of the hearing on whether the receivers should be permanent October 21 at 2 P. M. The temporary receivers were required to file a bond for $10,000.

Mrs. Eva M. Lucas, of Brownsville, began action for a divorce against her husband, George Lucas, who was last heard from in Minneapolis, Minn. They were married April 22, 1911, in Uniontown, and Mrs. Lucas claims that her husband deserted her on the following July 25.

MANY CHANGES IN M. E. ASSIGNMENTS

Rev. Richardson Returns to Connellsville; Many to Dawson Church.

An unusual number of changes were made in the assignment of ministers at the Methodist Episcopal conference of the Pittsburgh district, which came to a close at Washington, Pa., yesterday. Rev. G. L. C. Richardson is once more returned to the Connellsville church, and Rev. H. A. Baum comes back to Dawson, also having the Bryan, Admire and Whitsett charges. Rev. Ralph Bell is transferred from Vanderhill to Confluence, Rev. S. W. Hyman being assigned to the Vanderhill charge.

Among the other changes in the McKeesport district, of which the Connellsville church is a part, are the following: C. H. Porter to Addison in place of O. J. Rishell; William Hamilton to Alverton in place of G. M. Allhouse; C. A. Wagner to Berlin and Stoyestown in place of E. W. Thomas; C. W. Ringer to Fairhance in place of H. N. Sipes, who goes to Layton, succeeding C. W. Ringer. At Mount Pleasant C. P. Salladay is succeeded by E. J. Knox. Ohlerville gets a new pastor in H. G. Trimmer, who replaces Arthur Sellers. M. R. Jackson is sent to Star Junction, where T. M. Dunkle occupied the pulpit. Smithfield also gets a new pastor, Ralph Bell succeeding W. M. Bracken.

No change was made in the pastors at Belleverton, coke mission, Perryopolis, Point Marion, West Newton and Scottdale.

Rev. C. P. Salandy, who has been at Mount Pleasant, goes to Arnold. In the Harrisville district, being succeeded by E. J. Knox. Rev. A. J. Ashe, a former pastor here, is returned to the Knoxville charge. Rev. J. B. Risk, also a former pastor, was elevated to the position of superintendent of the Washington district.

Buy West Side Ground.
Edward Duggan and W. H. Kelly have purchased the land between the Connellsville Macaroni Company's factory and the Pennsylvania railroad on the West Side. They have not yet completed their plans for utilizing the ground.

Youth Hurt in Mines.
Anteek Clark of Lohersburg, son of James Clark was caught between two pit cars yesterday morning in the mines and squeezed against the chest. He was removed to his home.

Banks Closed Thursday.
Thursday, October 12, "Columbus Day" will be observed by the banks as a legal holiday.

HEATING PLANT OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL COSTS BIG FIGURE

School Board Lets Contract to Pittsburgh Firm for $35,000.

$10,000 ABOVE THE ESTIMATES

General Contractor is Ready for Some of the Equipment to be Installed.
So Board Has No Time to Reconsider in Effort to Get Prices Down.

It will cost $35,000 to heat the new high school building. Bids were opened by School Board last night and the contract awarded at the above figure to the McGinnis Company of Pittsburgh. There were two other bidders, the G. F. Higgins Company, at $36,073, and T. T. Evans, at $38,519.53. The bid of the McGinnis concern was $35,845, but through the adoption of an alternative system of heat regulation from that named in the specifications, the board saved $815.

The bids amazed members of the board. They ranged anywhere from $10,000 to $13,000 beyond the estimated figure. The delay in advertising for bids made it impossible to further delay the awarding of the contract. Laurence & Crichtfield, the general contractors, are ready for the heating men to start some of their work, and urged that the contract be awarded promptly, in order that their work might not be held up. Architect W. G. Eccles of New Castle attended the meeting. He expressed surprise that the figures were not lower.

"Light here is where we get all the advances," was President J. R. Davidson's comment. "Everything in the heating system is metal, and everybody knows what has happened in the iron and steel market. There will be no change in prices in time to do us any good."

The McGinnis Company offered several alternatives in their bids. By eliminating direct radiation in certain rooms of the building, $3,000 could have been saved; $700 would have been slashed off the contract price if the system of automatic control was adopted in connection with the radiator and fan system; $800 taken off for the substitution of one system of heat regulation, the one suggestion that was adopted; and $300 allowed for the substitution of steel for iron pipe.

Architect Eccles did not recommend any changes from the specifications, save that which was made by the board, the greatest saving possible, that of $3,000, would be contained, destroy one of the most valuable features of the system he has designed. Under the specifications, the split system of direct and indirect heating is used, which means there will be both radiators and warm air registers. Elimination of the radiators, as proposed by the contractor, would mean much additional expense in getting the building warm each morning. Under the system that has been designed it is anticipated that the radiators will keep the building warm throughout the night, making it unnecessary to start the fans running at excessive speed an hour or so earlier each morning, as would be necessary without the radiators. Mr. Eccles also thought it economy not to save $700 by eliminating certain automatic control features. With this design it will be possible to heat either the gymnasium or the auditorium without sending the warm air circulating through other parts of the building. This will be particularly advantageous and economical when one or both of these rooms are to be used after the rest of the building has been closed.

Mr. Eccles did not recommend substitution of steel for iron pipe, at a saving of $300.

Although members of the board, together with the architect, expressed belief that roundersaving for bids would accomplish little in the way of a reduction in the figures, at least one plumbing and heating man declared such would have been the result. "I wish I had put in a bid," this man said. "I had landed that contract by a good margin." He estimated, roughly, that the work could be done for $25,000, but he admitted he had made no close study of prices with a view to bidding on the work. "The firm that got that contract won't lose money on it at that figure," was his verdict.

Whatever hope Fourth ward parents have held that the School Board might find a way to take care of at least the smaller children in the ward without sending them to either the Third ward or the South Side schools for half-day sessions was largely dimmed as a result of the award of the heating contract. The board is now apparently showing signs of worry over the cost of the new building. With a site costing around $30,000 and the heating contract something like $10,000 in excess of anticipations, the new building will cost in the neighborhood of $115,000.

Members of the board say there is a place already provided for every cent that will be available this year. Little other business was transacted. Out of town pupils in high school were formally accepted, in order to establish a record of them. South Connellsville sends 12, Upper

SHED MAY BE BUILT TO HOUSE NEW FIRE TRUCK THIS WINTER

Proposition to Rent a Room
Considered Too Expensive for Council.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING COMING

City Hall May Eventually be Turned Into a Central Fire Station and a New City Hall Constructed; Meeting Monday Night Called to Decide.

The question of where to house the new hook and ladder truck during the winter came up for discussion at council meeting last night. No decision was reached, the members deciding to think over it for a week and take definite action next Monday night. Councilman John Duggan suggested building a temporary shed out of old brick now in the city's possession to take the place of the tents under which the new apparatus now stands at the rear of the West Side fire station. Superintendent of Public Safety M. B. Pryce asked why it would not be a good thing to rent a room on the East Side and station part of the apparatus in it until a new central fire station could be built.

Someone asked what a room could be rented for and Mr. Pryce said the cheapest suitable room would be $65 a month. This is the vacant store room in the Macabee Building. Mr. Duggan said the apparatus would have to be housed there at least 12 months, in view of which the building of an addition to the West Side station would be far cheaper.

"In either case, you'll be simply throwing money away," remarked Mr. West.

In this connection Mr. Duggan intimated that the final solution of the central fire station problem would be the erection of a new public building and the transformation of the present public building into a central fire station.

"A new municipal building has been advocated," he said, "and it ought not to be built here. We ought to make this a fire house."

The Connellsville Water Company was authorized to place a new fire hydrant on Lehighway avenue, West Side, at a point where it will be of service to the industrial plants in that section. The Specialty Silt Company's mill is in course of erection there and the Macaroni factory is not far away.

A contract was placed with the Solvson Fire Brick Company for 14,000 hollow brick to pave South alley.

Engineer S. M. Foust was directed to get the county's bill for its share of the Isabelle road paving cost ready. Under the agreement Connellsville township and the county were to pay a majority of this cost.

The Connellsville Water Company will be notified to move its line away from the curb on Arch street. The line is now being lowered but council wants its location in the street changed.

There were eight fire alarms during September, Director of Public Safety M. B. Pryce reported, six of them false. The two actual fires did damage estimated at $700. The firemen inspected 65 buildings during the month.

Councilman Duggan reported having inspected the ravine in the North End where surface drainage collects, causing much annoyance to the property owners, especially to S. B. Decker, who has threatened the city with a damage suit. Mr. Duggan said something would have to be done but council will have to wait to make an appropriation covering the cost.

Paving collections are not being made, Mr. Duggan said, because Assistant Solicitor T. E. Younkens is ill. He suggested that Solicitor D. C. Higbee get at his or employ somebody to do it for him.

Superintendent of Accounts J. L. West reported a balance of $19,295.67 in the general fund; $38,109.01 in the sinking fund; $4,916.02 in the improvement fund; and $5,929.50 in the firemen's relief fund. Expenditures in the various city departments during September totaled $19,295.67.

Mr. West reported to the mayor a complaint from Mrs. Anna Neff of First street, West Side, that a family named McLaughlin annoys the neighborhood greatly by constant quarreling. One of Mrs. Neff's tenants has left on this account, he said. The mayor promised to take the matter up.

A letter was received from C. F. Stewart, general passenger agent for the Western Maryland railroad, explaining why it was unable to grant council's request to run an excursion train to the Hagerstown fair on the 11th for the Connellsville Military Band. He stated that the railroad could not meet Mr. Gasker's views in the matter. The best rate it could give other communities for a fair excursion, he explained, was half the regular fare. This would make the Connellsville rate $5.00 whereas Mr. Gasker wanted a $2.50 rate. The railroad has never made such a low rate except on a Sunday, the agent stated. By running an excursion on Wednesday, the 11th, Mr. Stewart stated, it would mean that much passenger equipment would be unavailable for the big day of the fair on the next day. Council acknowledged the letter.

FINE TIME MADE AT FIRE DRILLS

School Children, Without Any Rehearsals, Show There is "Safety First" Spirit in Abundance.

Although the term had barely opened, the children attending the various schools of the city did remarkably well yesterday when put through fire drills by Factory Inspector James S. Darr as part of the observance of National Fire Prevention Day. The good order that attended the drills and the rapidity with which the pupils left the building elicited favorable comment from the inspector and those who accompanied him on his tour of the schools.

The South Side school with 515 pupils was emptied in one minute and 38 seconds, the high school with 490 pupils in one minute and 16 seconds, the Greenwood pupils numbering 142 were all outside in 52 seconds, the 190 pupils in the Fourth street school left the building in 33 seconds and 310 fled out of the Second ward school in one minute and three seconds. Those attending the morning session, 360 in all got out in one minute and six seconds, and those in the afternoon, numbering 386, were on the street in one minute and 10 seconds.

Mr. Darr also had a drill at the Parochial school. There 380 pupils were out in one minute and 30 seconds.

At the Tri-State Candy factory, Mr. Darr sprang a surprise on the employees by ringing the fire bell. The 32 employees were out in a minute and 50 seconds. The girls on the upper floors were down the fire escapes in much less time than this but the men on the lower floors had to stop the machinery and turn off the gas, hence they were not out so soon.

The inspector was accompanied on his tour by M. B. Pryce, director of safety; W. E. DeBolt, fire chief, and S. P. Ashe, superintendent of schools.

GETS AFTER CHIEF

Rotter Must Explain Why He Let Officer Take Benford Away.

An information made yesterday afternoon before Alderman J. J. Vitell at Uniontown by Attorney Harry W. Byrne, Chief of Police B. Rotter was charged with delivering a person to be removed from Pennsylvania without a hearing before a judge of a court of record.

Chief Rotter arraigned Frank Benford here Sunday and charged him with being a fugitive from justice. Benford was wanted in Youngstown, O., for deserting a minor child. Benford gave bail on Rotter's charge. Yesterday L. S. Wheland, clerk of police at Youngstown, arrived here with the necessary extradition papers and Rotter turned over the offender. Benford did not resist but went willingly with Officer Wheland.

Attorney Byrne says that Benford should have been taken before a court of record for a hearing on a habeas corpus or without having him waive that right. Chief Rotter will give bail and fix the time of hearing before the Uniontown alderman.

FIREMEN GET NEAT SUM

License Fees Collected From Last
Carnival is Turned Over.

Two hundred and twenty dollars collected as license tax from the last carnival that exhibited here was refunded to the West Side firemen last night by council. The firemen have now received the license money paid to by every carnival that exhibited here under their auspices this year.

It was stated last night that the firemen had lost out on the carnival that was here during Fire Prevention Week because of rainy weather and the quarantine barring children under 16.

Councilman L. L. West debated a long time before voting to refund the money. Finally he said:

"I'll vote yes, but keep the rest of them out."

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

It is Celebrated at Dickerson Run
by Y. M. C. A. With Special Program.

National Fire and Accident Prevention Day was celebrated at Dickerson Run last night with a special program at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was largely attended.

Rev. Kidwell of Vanderhill, T. D. Schuyler of Dickerson Run, and Frank Babcock, Pittsburgh, safety first agent for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, were the speakers of the evening. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra, entertained with several selections and Miss Flora May Joseph of Dawson sang a solo. Joseph Snyder, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers.

Fans Believe That Today's Contest
Is the Crucial One, and Brooklyn's
Last Chance to Keep in the Running for Premier Title; Big Crowd Out.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—with the battle for the premier baseball honor of the year transferred from Boston to Brooklyn today, the baseball enthusiasts of Greater New York flocked by the thousands to Ebbets Field to view the world's series from a new angle. Brooklyn has sent many a strong delegation to the Polo grounds in Harlem, home of the Giants, to witness postseason struggles in former years, but today was a reversal of the process, with the tide of travel turned toward Flatbush, where sits the stadium occupied by the present National League champions.

In contrast with the warm haziness of the past few days, remarkable for its adaptability to the great national pastime, the morning broke cool and breezy with the promise for a day suited to the work on the gridiron than on the diamond.

The ticket holders for the games to be played on the Flatbush diamond—there were more than 20,000 of them before the rush to the grounds started—were not over impatient to get to the playing field and the Brooklyn traction lines were easily able to take care of their forenoon patrons. The thousands who had not been forewarned, however, together with other thousands who counted on winning out in the struggle for places in the unreserved sections, provided a steady flow of traffic groundward to be augmented later by the throngs of possessors of the elaborately lithographed cardboard seats entitling them to specified seats within the playing arena. And long before game time there was every indication that the stadium at the call of play would be filled to the limit of its 26,000 capacity.

The struggle of the day, coming after two desperate encounters in Boston which left the Brooklyn without a victory and gave the Red Sox a commanding lead in the battle for the title, promises to be perhaps the "crucial" game of the series. The probable lineup for the teams for today's game is as follows:

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, food gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock to the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive, in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not grip, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the youngest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A real bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 155 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

WANTS PAVING DONE

Council Has Other Improvements Than Safety Gates in View.

A resolution framed by Director of Public Safety M. B. Pryce asking the Pennsylvania railroad to put safety gates at dangerous crossings in the city was not introduced last night although Mr. Pryce had it ready. None of the other members would second it because, as some of them stated, there are other things the city wants to get from the railroad before going after the safety gate matter.

Among the things the city wants the railroad to do, Mayor Marletta said, are to pave Mountain alley and grade North Arch street under the railroad tracks.

The Pennsylvania is spending a lot of money in Connelville and the city hopes to get safety gates, before the appropriation for local improvements is exhausted.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

Try This! Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful at Once.

Immediate—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see now hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it—Adv.

To Help Women

After terrible sufferings, numberless women have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and recovered from ailments peculiar to their sex. Many of these, who cannot bear that other women should suffer as they did without knowing what to do, have written letters telling their experience to be published to the world. These honest, helpful stories are constantly appearing in the newspapers. Read them, ailing women, they are written with no motive but your good—Adv.

MRS. NANCY D. KEARNS.

Rev. J. H. Lamberson and Rev. W. J. Evershart will officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Nancy D. Kearns to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of her son, Richard Kearns in North First street, West Side. Mrs. Kearns died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday morning at her son's home. Although she had been a sufferer from asthma for some time her condition apparently was the same as usual on Sunday. She was stricken yesterday morning about 5:30 o'clock and died soon afterwards. Mrs. Kearns was born at Hedgworthville, W. Va., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Curtis. For a number of years she resided at Martinsburg, W. Va. About 30 years ago she came to Connelville with her family, residing in and about the coke region since that time. She resided at Meyer for some time and for the past five years had made her home with her son Richard Kearns. Her husband, Richard Kearns, died about 16 years ago. The following children survive: Charles W. Kearns, Richard Kearns, of the West Side, John Kearns of Coalingburg; James Kearns of Uniontown; Mrs. William Metzger of Greensburg; and Mrs. Ross Stumm of East Liberty.

MRS. ELIZABETH SHEARER.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cooke Shearer died Saturday night at her home at Washington, Pa. Deceased was a daughter of the late Henry and Esther Doyan Cook and was born in Fayette county. Deceased was a sister of Mrs. David Patterson of Connelville and Mrs. Jennie Turner of Washington, D. C., formerly of Connelville. Mrs. Patterson and daughters left yesterday morning for Washington to attend the funeral services held this afternoon from the family residence.

L. L. JOHNSON.

L. L. Johnson, a former resident of Connelville, died this morning at his home at Ada, Pa., following an illness of dropsy. Mr. Johnson was married to Ella Mae Stillwagon, a daughter of Mrs. Belle Stillwagon of Snyder street. Most of his life was spent at Masontown and New Salem. He resided for about a year in Greensburg. In addition to his widow one sister and one brother survive.

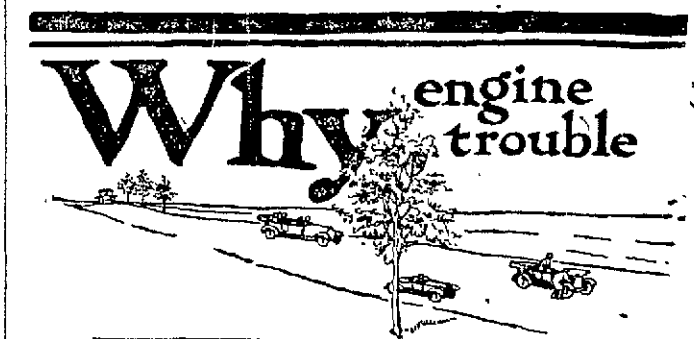

MRS. JAMES GRACE.

The funeral of Mrs. James Grace took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the Immaculate Conception Church, requiem high mass being celebrated. Many relatives and friends of the deceased attended. Interment in the new St. Joseph's cemetery.

Goes to Baltimore Hospital.

Mrs. William Henry of the East End was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore this morning for medical treatment. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Nannie Henry, and Dr. J. D. Jackson.

PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS WHO ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER.

Frankly, there may be seventeen factors contributing at one time or another to "engine trouble." But it's always a safe bet that the greatest offender in the whole militaristic mob is Poor Lubrication. There's one sure way to banish lubrication-troubles: Atlantic Motor Oils.

Here are oils that have done as much toward banishing engine-trouble via better lubrication as Atlantic Gasoline, the accepted standard, has toward increasing power, mileage and general car-happiness.

Atlantic Polarine is commander of the crew of four principal motor oils, being the correct lubricant for eight out of ten cars. In all alternative cases, Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium," or Atlantic "Heavy" is the one to use. Ask your garage-man which.

In actual tests, it has been definitely demonstrated that a properly lubricated motor will yield as much as five additional miles to the gallon of gasoline.

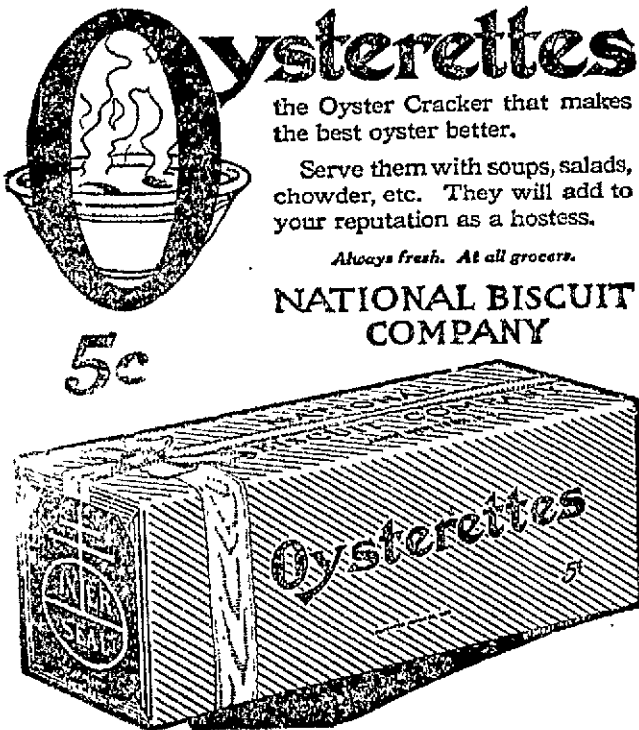

Use the combination: Atlantic Gasoline for fuel, Atlantic Motor Oils for lubrication.

The oldest and largest manufacturers of lubricating oils in the world recommend this combination to you without reservation. They ought to know whereof they speak—and they DO.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

GARRITY CHILD IS PRONOUNCED WELL; QUARANTINE OVER

Victim of Infant Plague Is Expected to Get Along Nicely Now.

NEWS NOTES FROM SCOTSDALE

Foresters Will Hold Dance in Reid Hall; Pittsburgh Pastor Preaches Two Sermons in Christian Church; New Cells Erected at Borough Jail.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Oct. 10.—The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garrity, which has infantile paralysis has been pronounced cured. The little fellow's left leg is still paralyzed but it is thought that with the exception of this, he will get along nicely.

The three children of Peter Sharkey who were quarantined along with Mrs. Sharkey when infantile paralysis broke out in the Garrity family, were released yesterday after being held under quarantine for fourteen days. Mrs. Sharkey and Mrs. Garrity are sisters who live opposite each other.

TO HOLD DANCE.
The Scottdale Foresters have invitations out for a dance to be held in the Reid Hall on Tuesday evening, October 17, from 8 to 12 o'clock. A buffet lunch will be served. The committee in charge is Patrick Hickey, Thomas Garrity, Frank Haley, P. F. McCudden and R. A. Mulaney.

INFANT DIES.
Porta, the year and six months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pordue, died at its third avenue home. Funeral services will be held from the home at 2 o'clock today and the interment will be in the Scottdale cemetery.

CHRISTIANS WANT PASTOR.
Rev. Mr. Darsie of Pittsburgh, delivered two excellent sermons for the Christian Church people on Sunday. The Christian congregation have issued a call to Rev. Alfred Duxton of Toronto, Canada, for a trial sermon. Mr. Duxton will be here at an early date to give the sermon.

GETS COAT OF PAINT.
The freight office of the Pennsylvania railroad is being given a new coat of paint to get ready for the annual inspection that comes in this month.

LAST STRAW SEEN.
What seemed to be the last straw of the season was seen yesterday. A foreigner had evidently purchased the hat as they were being laid away to get it at a reduction. It was brand new. The foreigner for a time stood near the West Penn waiting room and then moved up Pittsburgh street. With the drop in temperature everyone shivered when they saw the straw hat.

DRUNK IS ANNOYED.
A foreigner arrested for drunkenness had quite a time getting sobered up yesterday, as they were tearing the porch fall down to erect the new bells when they came. The nearer the workmen got to the foreigner the officer he demanded to know what was being done. He walked the floor until the beads of perspiration stood on his forehead.

MOUNT PLEASANT PREPARES FOR THE SOLDIERS' RETURN

Streets are Decorated; Councilmen to Act as Escorts in Welcoming Parade.

FIREMEN AS SPECIAL POLICE

Appointed to Serve During Parade; Telegram Received From War Department From Captain Zandell; Miss Hallie Kulp a Bride; Notes.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 10.—The committee which is doing the decorating of the streets to welcome home Company E, at 7 o'clock last evening began the decoration. The work lasted until long after midnight. This morning the streets have taken on a very pretty aspect together with the decorations used on the houses and the business places will also have an excellent appearance. Cards will be sent out this morning authorizing the firemen at the call of their chief, E. B. Swartz, to appear in white trousers, brown caps and coats, and to act as police officers during the parade of Company E boys.

COUNCILMEN AS ESCORTS.
Council held a special meeting last evening for the purpose of receiving bids for the sewerage of Oak and Steamboat streets. There being no bids, this was carried over until the next meeting. If any bids come in meanwhile a special meeting will be called. The president of council, Samuel Stevens, as a member of the general committee for the homecoming of Company E, told council that a special invitation was extended to them through him to be honor guests of the committee in the parade. This invitation was accepted and a motion was adopted providing that every member of council wear a high silk hat when Company E is escorted from the depot to the armory.

ORDER FROM WAR DEPARTMENT.
A two hundred word telegram came from the War Department for Company E, to be opened when Captain Zandell arrives. The message was taken to the armory and left there in trust of John Miller.

GUILD HAS MEETING.
The Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren Church held its regular monthly meeting at the United Brethren Church last evening.

RELIEVE HEADACHES WITHOUT DOSING

By Applying Sloan's Liniment to Forehead You Can Stop the Severe Pains.

Many headaches are of a neuritic origin. The symptoms of such headaches are intense and lingering pains in the brow, temples or back of the head.

There is one certain relief that has been known and recommended for years back, Sloan's Liniment. One application and the dull pain is practically gone. It is easily applied without rubbing. Rubbing is unnecessary, as Sloan's Liniment quickly penetrates the seat of the trouble.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, bruises, lumbago, chilblains, sprains and stiff neck can also be most effectively treated with Sloan's Liniment. Clearer than musky plasters or ointments; it does not stain the skin or clog the pores.

At all drug stores, 25c, 50c, $1.00.—Adv.

LAZARO

"The Greatest Tenor since Rubini—a Greater than Gayarre!"

THE voice that swept whole countries into adoration. And you can hear it on Columbia Records before the great tenor makes his first appearance on the opera stage in this country.

In Lazaro, the world is listening to a voice that will be recalled in future generations as the great world tenor. Not only is there no voice of greater power, but there is no tenor with such range or control.

PUT NEW BRIDGE IN Pennsylvania Moves Completed Structure Into Place at Davidson.

The Pennsylvania railroad Sunday took out the old bridge over Mount Creek and lifted the new one into place with such dispatch that crowds who watched the work marveled at the efficiency displayed. Starting at 8:10 in the morning, the crew had the new span in place and ready for trains to use it by 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

An entire new bridge has been constructed alongside the old structure. The spans were bolted in place, the ties laid and concrete poured between them, thus making the bridge a solid unit. As the work progressed, it appeared as though the railroad was building a double track bridge. When everything was ready the old bridge was shifted to one side and the new span was put on rollers and pushed into place. It was a big job but it was accomplished with remarkable facility.

Another new bridge is to be put in near Coalbrook. The same method will be followed.

RED SOX WIN 14 INNING GAME FROM NATIONAL CHAMPS

Del Gainer is Hero With Heats in Pitch and Sends in Winning Run.

LONGEST WORLD SERIES GAME

Beats Previous Record by One Inning; S. Smith Pitches Fine Game for Brooklyn; Dutch Myers, Former Coker, Hits Home Run in the First.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—(Breaker) world series records and leaving tradition to shreds, the Boston Americans defeated Brooklyn Nationals by a score of 2 to 1 in a 14 inning game here yesterday afternoon. It was the second contest for the championship and was decided only after a struggle that surpassed in situations any ever evolved in the fertile mind of a baseball fiction writer.

For more than two hours the teams, pennant winners in their respective leagues, battled with almost superhuman skill and courage through a sore war. Then with the stage set as if for the thrilling climax, a pinch hitter and a pinch runner won victories for the Red Sox just as the twilight threw its mantle of semi-darkness over Braves Field.

Delos Gainer of Elkins, W. Va., was the star of stars. It was his single in the gathering darkness of the final inning that saved from second loss Marshall McCall, running for Hoblitzel, with the tally that won the second straight victory for the Carriagettes over the champions of the senior league.

The contest opened with a sensational circuit smash by Dutch Myers in the initial inning and not for a moment afterward did the struggle halt or lose interest for the 40,000 odd fans who hung on every play with intense equal to that of the members of the two teams battling for fame and financial rewards. For a short space of time the home run scored by Myers appeared to be the mark that might give Brooklyn an even break in the series. In the third inning Scott tripled to center and scored leading run when Dutch Myers pitched Ruth's tap and had only to make the play at first base.

From that point on and Superbas grappled in a battle that rolled through eleven periods of play without the slightest advantage for either club while diamond deeds of amazing daring and skill held the spectators enthralled.

Stunning hits, wonderful catches, scintillating throws and the finest of baseball generalship succeeded each other so rapidly that those preceding were forgotten in the stunning brilliancy of later events.

Thus it came about that with gray shadows creeping down over the stands to the field, the Boston players made their last stand at the plate. S. Smith, Brooklyn's southpaw, who had fought a splendid twirling duel against Carrigan's left handed star, Dabe Ruth, faltered for an instant with Hoblitzel at the bat. He could not locate the plate in the twilight and passed Hoblitzel to Daubert's station. Lewis moved his clubmate to second with an infield sacrifice.

Here the Red Sox manager showed his baseball acumen by sending McCall to run for Hoblitzel and taking Gainer from the bench to bat for Gardner. Gainer set himself for his effort and smashed a line drive between short and third which came to Wheat on the second bound. The latter, playing in deep left, whipped the ball toward the plate with every atom of his strength, but McCall, had sprinted with the crack of the bat and ball and slid home with the winning run before Catcher Miller could clutch the flying sphere.

As a result of Gainer's hit the Boston team left for Brooklyn with two of the necessary four victories to their credit.

Brooklyn in the role of vanquished garnered almost as much praise and honor as the triumphant Red Sox. Their fighting spirit will go down as one of the most remarkable in the annals of the game. In holding the Carriagettes for 11 innings before admitting defeat they established a new record for world's series play even eclipsing the 3-2 15 inning game played between the Chicago Nationals and Detroit Americans in 1907. EBBETTS FIELD DIAMOND AND MANAGER ROBINSON

Nearly 1,500 extra box seats would be placed on Ebbetts field, Brooklyn, and there probably would be 1,500 extra seats constructed in left field. It was announced. These extra accommodations bring the capacity of Ebbetts field up to about 25,000 for the world's series games of the Brooklyn with the Red Sox. The same conditions exist in Boston. Allotment of the 54,000 reserved seat tickets for world's series showed that the available reservations were over-subscribed so greatly that many persons who asked for a modest pair of seats were allowed but one, while others, asking six or eight, in some instances obtained only a pair. The happiest man in baseball today is Manager Wilbert Robinson, who piloted the Brooklyn to their first pennant in 15 years.

PATRONIZE THOSE WHO ADVERTISE!

Copyright, 1914, by Houghton Mifflin Co.

The rider had appeared from behind the ridge. Slowly Overland raised his right hand. Then the old fighting soul of Jack Summers, sheriff of Abilene, rebelled. "No! Hanged if I'll ambush any white man!" And he leaped to his feet. "Overland! Limited!" he shouted, and with his battle-axe came the quick tattoo of shots. The horse was wavering, doubled up and pitched forward to the sand.

Overland Red dropped and rolled to one side as the constable's gun boomed ineffectually. The tramp lay still. A clatter of empty stirrups, the swish of a horse galloping past, and silence. Slowly the constable approached Overland's prostrate figure. "Time's up for you!" he said, covering the tramp with his gun.

"Water!" growled Overland. "Water, eh? Well, crawl to it, you cat!"

Winthrop's heart thumping wildly, followed the constable. So this was desert law? No word of warning or inquiry, but a hail of shots, a riderless horse—two men stretched upon the sand and the burning sun swizzling in a cloudless circle above the desolate silence.

"You seem to kind of recognize your friend now," sneered the constable. "That was too much for Winthrop's overstrung nerves. His pulse control in his ears. With a leap he seized the constable's gun and twisted at it with both hands. There was an explosion, and Winthrop grinned savagely, still struggling. With insane strength he finally tore the gun from the other's grasp. "You're the only coward in this affair," he snarled as he leveled the gun at the constable. That officer, reading danger in Winthrop's eye, discreetly threw up his hands.

"Good!" exclaimed Overland, sitting up suddenly. "That was risky, but it worked out all right. I had a better plan. You go sit down, Billy. I'll see this gent safe toward home."

Winthrop laughed hysterically. "Why, you—you're a joke!" he cried. "I thought!"

"So did the little man with the plan pinned on his shirt," said Overland. "You keep his gun. I got to see how bad the other gent's hit."

An hour later the constable of the desert town led his pony toward the railroad. On the pony was his companion, with both arms bandaged. He leaned forward brokenly, yawning and cursing. "I'll get him if it takes a thousand years!" he muttered.

"I reckon I'll take all of that," growled the constable. "You can have all you want of his gun. Saunders, I'm through."

CHAPTER XI.

Foot's Luck.

THREE days they rested in the wild seclusion of the canyon. The silence, the solemnity of the place, fascinated Winthrop. The tiny stream, cold and clear; the vegetation in a region otherwise barren gray and burning; the arid Mojave with its blistering heat; the trees; the painted rocks—ochre, copper, bronze, red, gray and dim blue in the distances; the graceful sand, the little burro, half ludicrous, half pathetic in its stolid acceptance of circumstances—all had a charm for him that soothed and satisfied his restlessness.

Meanwhile the indefatigable Overland spun yarn after yarn of the road and range and rolled lumberable cigarettes with one hand, much to Winthrop's amusement.

The third morning Winthrop had awakened feeling so completely refreshed that he begged Overland to allow him to make an attempt to find the hidden nuggets and the little bag of gold. Overland demurred at first, fearing that the easterner would become lost or stricken with the heat. Through-out the day Winthrop argued stubbornly that he ran no risk of capture, while Overland did. He asserted that he could easily find the water hole, which was no difficult task, and from there he could go by compass straight out to the tracks. Overland had told him that somewhere near a little gulch beneath the track was the marked place indicating the hiding place of the dead prospector's things. It would mean a journey of a day and a night, traveling pretty continuously.

Finally Overland agreed to Winthrop's plan to make the attempt the following day. After they separated Overland found his slow way back to the hidden canyon. He felt a little lonely as he thought of Collie. He gave the burro some scraps of camp bread, knowing that the little animal would not stray so long as he was fed, even a little, each day.

"Color, but thin," he said.

It was while he was securing the fry pan that he noticed the black sand across the stream. Suddenly he rose and scooped a handful of the sand and gravel and began washing it, more as a pastime than with an idea of finding gold. Slowly he examined the white pebbles, dropping the water out until he had panned the lot. He spread his hand upon a smooth rock and gently cupped the residue of the washing on it. "Color, but thin," he said. "Let's try her again."

He moved farther upstream, this time with one of his regular pans. He became absorbed in his experiment. He washed painful after painful, slowly, carefully, collectedly. Suddenly he stood up, swore softly and flung the half washed dirt of the last pan on the rocks. "I'm a nut!" he exclaimed.

"This life in civilization has been putting my intellect to the bad. Too much eastern society." And with this inexplicable self arrangement he stooped at the tent door, buckled on his gun and started upstream. He glanced from side to side of the steep and narrowing walls as he advanced slowly. He passed places where the stream disappeared in the sand to find some subterranean channel and reappear below again. Rounding an angle of the cliff, he dropped to his knees and examined some tiny parallel scratches on a rounded rock—the marks made by a bogheel that had slipped. For an hour he toiled over the rocks on up the dimpling stream. "Gettin' thin," he muttered, gazing at the silver thread of water rippling over the pebbles. A few feet ahead the cliffs met at the bottom in a sharp edged "V," not over a foot apart in the stream bed, but widening above. Overland scrambled through. On the other side of the opening he straightened up, breathing hard. His hand crept to his hip. On a sandy level a few yards ahead of him stood a rugged and faded canvas tent, its flap wavering idly in a breath of wind. In front of the tent was the rain washed carcass of an old fire. A rusted pan, a pick and the worn slow of a shovel lay near the stream. A box marked "Dynamite" was half filled with odds and ends of empty tins, cooling utensils, and among the things was a glass fruit jar half filled with matches.

Slowly Overland's hand dropped to his side. He stepped forward, stooped and peered into the tent. "Thought so," he said, laughing quietly. Save for a pair of old quilts and an old corduroy coat the place was empty. "Foot's luck!" muttered Overland. "Wonder the Gophertown outfit didn't find him and fix him! But come to think of it, they ain't so anxious to cross over to this side of the range and get too close to a real town and get run in or shot up. Foot's luck!"

"Wonder the Gophertown outfit didn't find him and fix him! But come to think of it, they ain't so anxious to cross over to this side of the range and get too close to a real town and get run in or shot up. Foot's luck!"

Overland stood by concealed in an arroyo at the foot of the range. He could overlook the desert without being seen. It was the afternoon of the day following Winthrop's departure. Since discovering the dead prospector's camp and all that it meant, the tramp was doubly vigilant. He tried to believe that his anxiety was for his own safety rather than for Winthrop's. He finally gave up that idea, grumbling something about becoming "pinch soft in his feelin's since he took to associatin' with sassoty folks." However, had Winthrop been of the west and seasoned in its more rugged ways Overland would have thought little of the young man's share in recent events. While he knew that Winthrop looked upon their venture as nothing more than a rather keenly exciting game, Overland realized also that the easterner had played the game regularly. Perhaps the fact that Winthrop's health was not of the best appealed to some hidden sentiment in the tramp's peculiar nature.

Far in the south a speck moved, almost imperceptibly. The tramp's keen eyes told him that this was no horseman. He rolled a cigarette and lay back in the shade of a boulder. "He's a couple of points off his course, but he can't miss the range," he collected.

Desiring to assure himself that no horseman followed Winthrop, Overland Red made no sign that might help the other to find the trail over the range. The rim of Winthrop's hat became distinguishable; then the white lining of his boot. Nearest, Overland saw that his face was drawn and set with lines of fatigue.

No riders appeared on the horizon. Overland stepped out from behind the rock. "Well, how did you make it?" he called.

"Winthrop came forward wearily. "No luck at all."

"Couldn't find it, eh?" "I counted every tie between the tank and that little ditch under the track. The entire stretch has been re-laid with new ties."

Overland whistled. Then he grinned. "You had a good healthy walk, any how," he observed.

"It doesn't seem to worry you much," said Winthrop.

"Nope. Now you're back, it don't. I reckon you done your best. Angels can do no less. Buck up, Billy! You are limpin' a second hand porous plaster. Here, take a shot at this. That will stiffen your knees some. Did you meet up with anybody?"

"Not a soul. I thought I should twice last night, though. I didn't imagine the desert could get so cold."

"Never mind," said Overland Red. "I've struck it rich here. And he explained at length.

"Do you remember," replied Winthrop, "that I said, a day or two ago, that I shouldn't be surprised if the lost gold were in the very canyon where we camped? I claim precedence of divination, auto-suggestion and right of eminent domain. I shall not waive my pre-emptive."

"I never owned one," said Overland. "But now I'll let you come any style over me. I'll have one made with a silk lining and diamonds in the buttons just as soon as the claim gets to payin' good. Sky, pardner, it's free gold and real. I wisht Collie was here—the little cuss."

"Collie?" "Uhuh! The kid I was tellin' you about that I adopted back in Albuquerque. He's got a share in this here deal by rights. He invested his eight rollers and four bits in the chance of my findin' the stuff. It was all the cold he had at the time. You see, I was campin' up on the Moonstone for a change of air, and Collie and me had a meeting of the board of directors. The board voted unanimous to invest the paid in capital in a sale of new jeans for the president, which was me. I got 'em on now. You see, I had to be clothed up to look the part so I could catch a come on and get me grubstake."

"I see," said Winthrop, his gray eyes

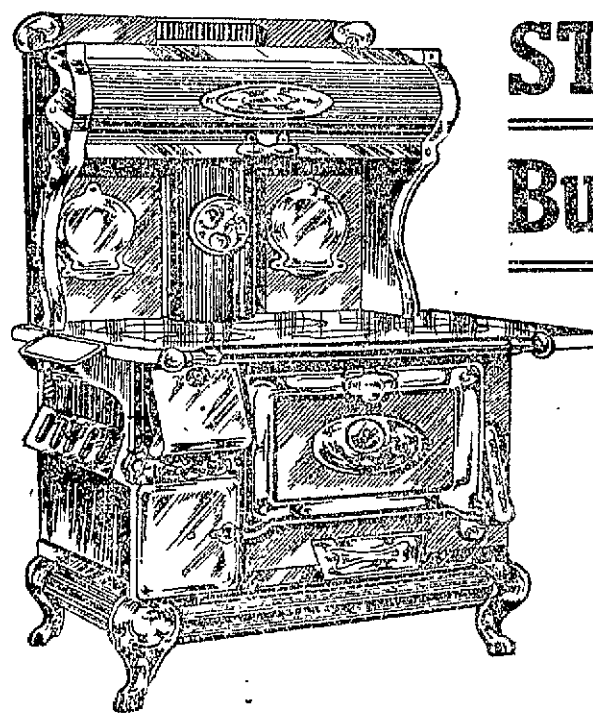

They drew nearer the fire and smoked in the chill silence.

"What are you going to do with those things?" asked Winthrop after they had inspected the abandoned camp. "Not him, then?"

"Yep; every strap and tie spring," replied Overland, gathering together the dead prospector's few effects.

"Cause why? Well, Billy, if this cat ain't died on—and I reckon it ain't—why, we flies on her as the original locators. Nobody gets wise to anything, and it saves the chance of gettin' jumped. The bunch over there would make it interestin' for us if they knowed we was goin' to die on it. They'd put up a fight by law, and mobby one not by law. Sabe?"

"I think so. Going to burn that little—cradle arrangement too?"

"Yep. Sorry, 'cause it's wood, and wood is wood here. That little rocker is a cradle, all right, for rockin' them golly babies in and leen out. The hard that rocks that cradle and enough miles the world, as the poets says."

They worked steadily until evening. They staked out their respective and adjoining claims, dropped the rusted tools in a bottomless crevice and removed the last shred and vestige of a previous occupancy.

"This here's been too easy," said

Overland as he sliced bacon for the evening meal. "When things comes easy as this you want to watch out for a change in the weather. We ain't through with the bunch yet."

After the evening meal they drew nearer the fire and smoked in the chill silence. The flames threw strange dancing shadows on the opposite cliff.

Winthrop, mindful of Overland's advice, slipped on his coat as the night deepened. "About year adoptin' a disguise," he began. "I should think you would look well enough clean-shaven and dressed in some stylish, rough tweed. You have fine shoulders and—"

"Hold on, Billy! I'm a livin' statue. I know. But listen! I got to go the limit to look the part. You can't iron the hoof marks out of my mug in a hundred years. The old desert and the border towns and the bottle burn ed 'em in to clay. Them kind of looks don't go with business clothes. I got to look fly—just like I didn't know no better."

"Perhaps you are right. You seem to make a go of everything you tackle."

"Yep! Some things I made go so fast I ain't caught up with 'em yet

You know I used to wonder if a fella's face would ever come smooth again in heaven. That was a spell ago. I ain't been worryin' about it none lately."

"How old are you?" "Me? I'm huggin' thirty-five close. But not so close I can't hear thirty-six loopin' up right smart."

"Only thirty-five?" exclaimed Winthrop, then quickly. "Oh, I beg your pardon!"

"That's nothin'," said Overland generally. "It ain't the 'thirty-five' that makes me feel sore. It's the 'only.' You said it all them. But believe me, pardner, the thirty-five have been all red chips."

"Well, you have lived!" sighed Winthrop.

"And come close to forgettin' to once or twice. Anyhow, speakin' of heaven, I'd jest as soon take my chances with this here mug of mine, what shows I earned all I got, as with one of them there dead fish faces I seen on some guys that never done nothin' but ter or worse than get up for breakfast."

Winthrop smiled. "Yes. And you believe in a heaven, then?"

"From mornin' till night. And then more than ever. Not your kind of a heaven, or maybe any other guy's. But as sure as you're goin' to create them new boots by settin' too close to the fire there's somethin' up there wadin' up the works regular and seein' that she ticks right and once in awhile chuckin' out old wheels and puttin' in new ones. Jes' take a look at them stars! Do you reckon they're runnin' right on time, and not jumpin' the track and dodgin' each other that slick—jest because they was throwed out of a star factory promiscuous like a shovel of gravel? Sure there's somethin' runnin' the big works, and whether me or you is goin' to get a look in—gonn' to be let in on it—why, that's different."

Winthrop drew back from the fire and crossed his legs. He leaned forward, gazing at the flames. From the distance came the howl of coyotes.

HOPE FOR FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF W. VA. COAL RATES

Is Being Entertained by the Operators of That State.

DISLIKE SOME OF THE RULINGS

Made by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Hearings, Especially Refusal to Allow Comparative Costs of Producing Coal to be Shown

During the hearing on the Fifteenth Cent Rate Case before Examiner Marshall at Detroit last week a ruling on a collateral subject by the examiner was looked upon by the West Virginia operators and their attorneys as significant of the attitude of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the subject of a further investigation of coal rates from West Virginia. In this ruling Examiner Marshall made the very restrictive recommendation that the West Virginia operators might try again by application to the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the subject of the cost of transportation of coal from West Virginia to the points affected by the proposed rate increase. Attorney Vinson of counsel for the West Virginia Coal Association, has frequently sought to have this subject investigated but evidence has been withheld because of the ruling of the commission upon his application.

The letter of the commission denying the application was read by the examiner into the record. By some fair letter is interpreted as the opinion of the commission that the railroads have failed to justify their claim for advanced rates upon the theory that the present rates are not profitable.

Subsequently notice was given by Attorney Vinson, representing the West Virginia operators, that he would make a written application to the Interstate Commerce Commission to be permitted to introduce testimony showing the comparative cost of mining coal in West Virginia and Ohio including the element of labor. At the Atlantic City hearing Examiner Marshall ruled out all testimony relating to the question of the comparative costs of mining.

A large number of witnesses were examined to support the contention of the Michigan users of West Virginia coal that the proposed increase in freight rates would make it impracticable for them to buy that fuel. Some of the witnesses followed the testimony of a representative of the beet sugar manufacturers in Michigan who undertook to change the testimony offered by him at the Atlantic City hearing. There, he said, speaking for the engineering department of his concern, he had stated that his principals would not change from West Virginia coal no matter what the freight rates. At the Detroit hearing he said he was instructed by the business management to say that if the advanced rates went into effect they would be compelled to change their equipment and use competitive coal to take advantage of the prospective lower price.

BRIDGEPORT.

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 10.—The regular meeting of the Keystone League of Christian Endeavors of the United Evangelical Church was held in the church Sunday evening at which time it was decided to hold the meeting hereafter on Friday instead of Sunday nights. The league is expecting to do great things the coming conference year.

Several young persons from here attended a party at the country home of Mrs. Catherine Mull on Saturday evening.

Invitations have been issued by the members of the United Evangelical Church for a farewell party to be held on Mr. and Mrs. William Miner and family of Buckley on Tuesday evening. Mr. Miner has been called to preach on a circuit near Johnston. The people of this place will miss him very much, where he has been noted for his zeal and work for the cause of Christ.

Mrs. John Hellen is very ill at her home on Church street.

HASNT WORKED FOR YEAR; NOW GAINS 20 LBS

Parker Had Been Like Dead Man Until He Took Tanlac.

"You sir, I have been taking tal Tanlac for about two weeks and I have gained twenty pounds," said J. E. Parker, machinist, of 163 East 12th Avenue, Erie.

"It was about a year ago," continued he, "that I suffered a stroke or paralysis. At the time I weighed 20 pounds. I was obliged to quit work and I haven't a tick at all in the last twelve months. I feel off in weight to 117 pounds, a loss of 38 pounds."

"I have been nearly dead. In fact I was so bad off that I thought my days were really numbered. About three weeks ago, I first heard about Tanlac. I made some private investigation about the medicine. I inquired of several neighbors who were taking Tanlac. They told me it was the best thing they had ever used, and that I would make no mistake in testing it. I thereupon bought me some of the medicine. I began improving in a few days after commencing to use it. My strength came back to me gradually, and I am now today stronger and feel younger than I have felt in years."

"Yes, it is true. I have gained twenty pounds in two weeks. It seems strange to believe, but it is certainly so. I am now feeling so well that I am going back to work next Monday. I consider Tanlac the most wonderful medicine ever sold here."

Tanlac is now sold in Connellsville exclusively by Connellsville Drug Co., where the premier preparation can be had.

Tanlac can also be received in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug Store.—Adv.

CAR RIOTS START, THEN NEW YORKERS REALIZE "MOTHER" JONES IS VISITING THEM

"MOTHER" JONES

The leaders of the New York traction strike called upon "Mother" Jones, the aged labor agitator, to put some "pep" into the strike. It is said the pep arrived as soon as she did. It took only a few hours for her to start something. She delivered an inflammatory speech to the wives and other women relatives of the striking car men, and they did the rest. A surface car was passing, and the women attacked it with fury.

"Mother" Jones is widely known for her activities in behalf of striking miners in various sections of the country. She declares that the nation was free to face with the "greatest industrial revolution the world has ever seen."
